

IBFD Certificate Programme

Advanced Professional Certificate in International Taxation (APCIT)

(1 October 2022 – 31 March 2023)

Overview and learning objectives

The IBFD Advanced Professional Certificate in International Taxation (APCIT) is a unique qualification for tax professionals who wish to be able to manage cross-border operations effectively, retain their competitive edge in international taxation and ultimately be recognized globally as professional experts in international taxation.

The programme is designed to be followed online over a 6-month period and consists of a selection of IBFD online courses and webinars. Once the programme is completed as a whole, you will receive a professional certificate of acknowledgement from IBFD, as a reputable international organization, that you have followed a rigorous learning regime in international taxation and hence recognition by the international tax community.

The programme will last for 6 months and will start on either 1 April or 1 October each year. The programme consists of the following 3 phases, guiding you from an introductory to an advanced practical level:

(See programme calendar below for the study timetable)

Phase I – Online courses

- This phase will develop core international tax skills. It will cover the basics of tax treaties, tax planning techniques and the OECD Transfer Pricing Guidelines. It will introduce international taxation as well as give a solid foundation on which to base your professional career in this field.
- A case study-based assignment will help put into practice the knowledge gained so far.

Phase II – Webinars

- This phase will cover the most pressing issues of international taxation, related to cross-border tax optimization transfer pricing, tax treaties and anti-abuse rules. As far as possible, the webinars will be updated to reflect the most current situation in international taxation.
- The webinars will cover important, evergreen topics that need to be considered by tax professionals in practice, as well as more recent international tax developments. As far as possible, the webinars on recent developments will have been updated to reflect the most current situation in international taxation.
- This phase will feature a live interactive webinar on current issues of international taxation. Participants will have the opportunity to raise questions and interact with the tax experts.
- A case study-based assignment will help put into practice the knowledge gained so far.

Phase III – Self-Study and Final Assessment

- This phase will consist of self-study time, which includes the possibility to take a short practice assessment in preparation for the final assessment.
- The final assessment, an online multiple-choice test, will conclude the programme.

After following the certificate programme, you will be equipped to:

- Contribute meaningfully to a company's international tax strategy
- Translate a global or regional tax strategy into domestic jurisdictions where business is conducted
- Undertake tax planning responsibilities in a wider geographical area and propose tax-effective business structures and operations
- Identify, address and control tax and transfer pricing risks arising from selected cross-border transactions
- Understand the implications of recent international tax developments in the post-BEPS era
- Prepare impact assessments and ensure that a business's corporate structure, position and transactions are BEPS-proof
- Proactively support the business functions and business line managers from a tax and transfer pricing point of view, and assist CFOs, directors, accountants and other peers in respect to the tax implications of business structures and transactions
