This set of questionnaires comprises the National Reporter's assessment of the country's practice during 2022 in protecting taxpayers' rights and the level of fulfillment of the minimum standards and best practices on the practical protection of taxpayers' rights identified by Prof. Dr. Philip Baker and Prof. Dr. Pasquale Pistone at the 2015 IFA Congress on "The Practical Protection of Taxpayers' Fundamental Rights."

OPTR - 2023 Questionnaire 1 - Country Practice

Dear National Reporter,

I would like to thank you for your participation in the IBFD's Observatory on the Protection of Taxpayers' Rights (OPTR).

This form collects the information on the practical implementation in domestic law of legal procedures, safeguards and guarantees associated with taxpayers' rights in 82 situations for the practical protection of taxpayers' rights, as monitored by the IBFD Observatory on the Protection of Taxpayers' Rights.

We kindly ask you to assess assertively (yes/no) the level of practical implementation of said procedures, safeguards and guarantees associated with taxpayers' rights in your country. When answering, please bear in mind the actual practice regarding each situation, regardless of whether a given procedure, safeguard or guarantee has been formally adopted in your country.

We would be very grateful if you submit us this questionnaire, duly filled out, by no later than 12 January 2024.

Feel free to contact us for any clarification you may need. We look forward to your valuable contribution to this remarkable project.

Kind regards,

Dr Alessandro Turina

New Art. 9-ter, Law no. 212 of 27 July 2000 (so-called "Taxpayer's Bill of Rights"), as recently amended by Legislative Decree no. 219 of 30 December 2023 and entered into force on 18 January 2024, has introduced a specific provision that strengthens confidentiality of taxpayer's data and information. Such rule expressly establishes that "1. In the exercise of their administrative action and in order to achieve the correct implementation of taxes, the Tax Authorities have the power to acquire, also through interoperability, data and information concerning taxpayers, contained in databases of other public entities, without prejudice to compliance with any limitations established by law.
2. The Tax Authorities are prohibited from disclosing the data and information referred to in paragraph 1, without prejudice to the to the transparency obligations provided by law, unless specifically waived by it". Although the rule shows the appreciable intent to provide further protection of taxpayer's information and data, it appears to be without penalties or disciplinary consequences for tax officials in the event of its violation. See, in this respect, the questions no. 11 (MS) and no. 12 (MS).

New Art. 1, paragraph 3-bis, Law no. 212 of 27 July 2000 (so-called "Taxpayer's Bill of Rights"), as recently amended by Legislative Decree no. 219 of 30 December 2023 and entered into force on 18 January 2024, expressly provides that all "State Administrations observe the provisions of this discipline concerning the right of audi alteram partem and access to tax administrative documentation, the protection of legitimate expectations, the prohibition of bis in idem, the principle of proportionality and the duty to correct administrative acts. The same provisions are valid as principles for the Regions and local authorities which adapt their respective systems in compliance with their respective autonomies. The special statute Regions and the Autonomous Provinces of Trento and Bolzano adapt their legislation to the provisions of this law, according to their respective statutes and related implementation rules". Considering that such rule provides the right to access to tax administrative documentation as a general principle, without specifying detailed mechanisms, we should imply that also in tax matters finds application the specific provisions governing administrative proceedings (Arts. 22 et seq., Law no. 241 of 7 August 1990).

New Arts. 4 et seq., Legislative Decree no. 128 of 5 August 2015, as recently amended by Legislative Decree no. 221 of 30 December 2023 and entered into force on 18 January 2024, significantly enlarges and strengthens the scope of the cooperative compliance procedure, which aims at identifying the "tax risk" of corporate taxpayers and enhance a preliminary dialogue with the Tax Authorities. Although the legislative amendment lowers the quantitative dimensions for taxpayers that want to be admitted to the cooperative compliance procedure – i.e. "The regime is reserved for taxpayers who achieve a turnover or revenue: a) starting from 2024, not less than € 750 million; b) starting from 2026, not less than € 500 million; c) starting from 2028, not less than € 100 million" (this is the wording of new Art. 7, para. 1-bis, Legislative Decree no. 128 of 5 August 2015) – nowadays even "smaller" taxpayers that do not meet such criteria may opt out for the "adoption of a system aimed at detecting, measuring, managing and controlling the tax risk" (Art. 7-bis, Legislative Decree no. 128 of 5 August 2015). This shows the shareable will of the lawmaker to progressively spread the culture of constructive dialogue between taxpayers and Tax Authorities.

In such initial phase, the Tax Authorities provides to the taxpayer the draft of the notice of assessment, who may highlight observations and comments within 60 days. If the Tax Authorities, notwithstanding the observations of the taxpayer, decide to issue the notice of assessment, the latter shall explain the reasons why such observations were not accepted. Although this is not a proper "shift towards", being the new rule formally limited to the receipt of notices of assessment (and not also tax audits), it was appropriate to point out this innovation, hoping that the legislator will soon intervene by expanding the prohibition on bis in idem to include tax audits.

See what already highlighted supra in the question 25 (S). New Art. 10-ter, Law no. 212 of 27 July 2000 (so-called "Taxpayer's Bill of Rights"), as recently amended by Legislative Decree no. 219 of 30 December 2023 and entered into force on 18 January 2024, has introduced the principle of proportionality in tax proceedings, which shall apply to all phases (i.e. fact-finding, tax assessment, imposition of tax administrative penalties and forced tax collection). In this respect, paragraph 3 of the abovementioned Art. 10-ter provides that "The principle of proportionality referred to in paragraphs 1 and 2 also applies to measures to combat tax avoidance and evasion and to tax administrative penalties". With regard to the prohibition of bis in idem, Art. 20, paragraph 1, letter a), no. 3), Law no. 111 of 9 August 2023 (Delegation to the Government for tax reform) provides that in the revision of the administrative and criminal tax penalty system the following guiding principle must be expressly followed: "review the relationships between the criminal trial and the litigation before Tax Courts by providing, consistently with the general principles of the legal system, that, in cases of irrevocable judgement of acquittal because the fact does not exist or the accused did not commit it, the material facts ascertained during the criminal trial will be considered in the tax litigation as regards the verification of the facts themselves and adapting the procedural and substantive profiles connected to the hypotheses of non-punishment and the application of mitigating circumstances to the actual duration of the tax debt repayment plans, even in the phase prior to the exercise of criminal action". From this rule, which has not yet been converted within a delegated law, it emerges the clear will of lawmaker to require Tax Courts to comply with the possible parallel acquittal with a "full formula" that concerns the same taxpayer in the criminal track.

In case of natural disasters, usually the Italian lawmaker approves specific disciplines that suspend tax obligations for those taxpayers directly affected by such events based on their residence or seat of the business activity. During 2023, for example, Law no. 100 of 31 July 2023 (which converted into law, with amendments, Law Decree no. 61 of 1st June 2023, containing urgent interventions to deal with the emergency caused by the flood events that occurred starting from 1st May 2023), has introduced several measures, among which the suspension from 1st May 2023 to 31st August 2023 of the deadlines relating to tax and social security obligations and payments.

New Art. 13, Law no. 212 of 27 July 2000 (so-called "Taxpayer's Bill of Rights"), as recently amended by Legislative Decree no. 219 of 30 December 2023 and entered into force on 18 January 2024, has introduced a "National Taxpayer Ombudsman", while in the previous discipline it was an official established in every Region. Being optimistic, this development may appear a "shift towards" because it creates a unique official with national competence. The centralisation of the function may bring benefits to the overall National Taxpayer Ombudsman's prestige, allowing the start of a process of best practices that are no longer fragmented between the Regions, but finally unitary at a State level. Also from a qualitative point of view, the law requires high standards of competence of the National Taxpayer Ombudsman, which is "a monocratic body based in Rome which operates in full autonomy and which is chosen and appointed by the Minister of Economy and Finance for the duration of four years, renewable only once taking into account the professionalism, productivity and activity carried out". The group of candidates that the Minister will be able to evaluate includes magistrates, university professors of legal and economic topics, notaries, lawyers, and chartered accountants with proven experience. The reform, however, does not resolve the two main critical issues that the "old" Regional Taxpayer Ombudsmen already had in the past, namely: 1) the dependence on the Ministry of Economy and Finance, which clearly does not allow for real impartiality and independence (of action and also of salary); 2) the absence of sanctioning and/or disciplinary powers towards tax inspectors who have, with their administrative activity, committed violations of tax provisions to the detriment of taxpayers. In conclusion, we hope that this first regulatory step will be subsequently improved by future legislative interventions, in order to make the figure more effective in the correct management of taxes and administrative procedures aimed at their assessment and collection.
