Our approach

IBFD has a demand-driven approach; carefully mapping the needs of our clients forms a starting point for implementation of our assignments. The knowledge of our staff is supported by an extensive collection of in-house databases that cover the tax and investment systems worldwide, as well as by our Library and Information Centre, which is acknowledged to be the largest tax library in the world.

We put together project teams with the competences, skills and experience necessary to carry out the project as effectively as possible. The project team can also draw on the experience of a worldwide network of correspondents and freelance experts, whose expertise covers all areas of taxation. Tailor-made training can be offered at the IBFD premises or at the client's location.

In order to thematically cover issues outside the field of international taxation, we partner with other research institutes, public organizations and training institutions. However, all assignments are fully managed and coordinated by the IBFD staff and a dedicated contact person. This ensures the quality, continuity and confidentiality of implementation and follow-up.

Recent projects

IBFD has assisted governments and tax administrations all over the world with research, consultancy, policy drafting, training and technical issues. Regions we operate in are Africa, Asia, the Middle East, Central and Eastern Europe and Latin America.

A few examples of projects include:

Africa

Zambia: IBFD conducted a study to review the tax incentive regime in terms of efficiency and effectiveness. This study was an integral part of Zambia's wider development objectives, incorporating the creation of employment, the transfer of skills and technology and maximizing the backward and forward linkages of new investments in priority sectors. In light of a review of international best practices, IBFD proposed a new tax incentive regime and recommended amendments to the policy in mitigating the revenue losses to the Treasury. IBFD also entered into cooperation to strengthen the capacity of the Zambia Revenue Authority.

Asia

India: IBFD has been cooperating with the National Academy of Direct Taxes (NADT), the training institution of the Officers and Staff of the Direct Taxes Administration in India, including the Indian Revenue Service (IRS), to provide training for their international attachment program. A series of trainings for the IRS new recruits program has been provided by IBFD in the areas of international taxation and tax administration matters. Some of the trainings also incorporated the IBFD online courses and study visits, for instance to the OECD.

Asian Tax Authorities Symposium (ATAS)

IBFD is one of the partners and organizers of the Asian Tax Authorities Symposium (ATAS). The main focus of ATAS is to contribute to the building and developing of capacity in public governance for tax administration and policy, by creating and enhancing awareness in Asia-Pacific tax administrations and tax policymakers of domestic and international tax issues caused by the increasing globalization of economic activities. In particular, ATAS wishes to encourage greater country participation from developing countries in discussing acceptable international tax norms and aims to provide an avenue for these countries to highlight the issues that concern them most. ATAS was first held in 2010 and comes up every two years.
