Contributors

Brian Arnold is Senior Adviser, Canadian Tax Foundation. He is a graduate of Harvard Law School and has taught tax law at a Canadian law school for many years. He has been a consultant to various governments, the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) and the United Nations. He was a Visiting Professor at Harvard Law School from 2005 to 2011 and at New York University in 2005 and 2012, and currently teaches international tax courses at the University of Sydney and the University of Melbourne.

John F. Avery Jones, born in 1940 and graduated from Cambridge University. He was until his retirement a Judge of the Upper Tribunal (Tax and Chancery Chamber). He was Chairman of the British Branch of the IFA, as well as member and Vice-President of the IFA Executive Committee, and is a past Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the IBFD (International Bureau of Fiscal Documentation) in Amsterdam, and was a Visiting Professor at the London School of Economics. He is consulting editor of the journal British Tax Review, member of the steering committee of the UK Tax Law Rewrite and a past member and chairman of the Tax Law Review Committee.

Philip Baker is a barrister and Queen’s Counsel practising from Grays Inn Tax Chambers. He was called to the bar in 1979, began practising in 1987, and took silk in 2002. He specializes in international tax issues, with a particular emphasis on double tax conventions, and on EU law and taxation. He is a senior visiting fellow at the Institute of Advanced Legal Studies, London University, and is the author of Double Taxation Conventions and International Tax Law and the editor of the International Tax Law Reports.

Yariv Brauner is a Professor of Law with the Levin College of Law at the University of Florida. He joined the Florida faculty in 2006, after teaching at NYU, Northwestern and ASU. He has been a Visiting Professor or a guest speaker in various universities in the United States and abroad. He is the author of several articles published in professional journals and law reviews, and a co-author of U.S. International Taxation – Cases and Materials (with Reuven S. Avi-Yonah and Diane M. Ring), now in its third edition.

Jakob Bundgaard, PhD, is a managing director of CORIT Advisory P/S, a specialized boutique tax firm. He advises broadly on tax law matters and possesses a special expertise within the field of company and group taxation, international tax law, including EU law, financial instruments, hydrocarbon taxation, corporate finance and private equity. Furthermore, Jakob is engaged in cleantech-companies and climate regulation. Concurrently with his counselling activities, Jakob has, for several years, been active in the academic world, where he has been the initiator of the Copenhagen Research Group on International Taxation. He has been appointed honorary professor of international tax law at the University of Aarhus. Jakob is the author of a large number of publications on tax law issues and is often invited as a speaker for other advisors, tax authorities, universities and at conferences.
Contributors

David G. Duff is Professor of Law at the University of British Columbia Faculty of Law (UBC Law), where he teaches and writes in the areas of tax law and policy, environmental taxation, comparative and international taxation, and distributive justice.

Prior to joining UBC Law, Prof. Duff was a member of the Faculty of Law at the University of Toronto from 1996 to 2009. Before that, he was a tax associate at the Toronto office of Stikeman, Elliott. He has been a visiting scholar at the law faculties at Auckland University, Bar-Ilan University, McGill University, Oxford University and the University of Sydney, and is an International Research Fellow of the Oxford University Centre for Business Taxation.

Prof. Duff has published numerous articles on tax law and policy, is the lead author on a textbook/casebook on Canadian income tax law, and was cited in the Supreme Court of Canada’s most recent decision on the Canadian General Anti-Avoidance Rule in Copthorne Holdings Ltd. v. Canada, 2011 SCC 63: http://scc.lexum.org/en/2011/2011scc63/2011scc63.html.

Daniel Gutmann is professor of tax law at the Sorbonne Law School (University Paris-1), where he is director of a Master in Business and Tax Law programme and of a research centre in taxation (Sorbonne-Fiscalité). He also acts as Partner at CMS Bureau Francis Lefebvre. He is a member of the Scientific Committee of the French branch of the International Fiscal Association (IFA). He is the author of a book on business tax law (Droit Fiscal des Affaires, Lextenso, 3rd edn, 2012, 710 pages) which was awarded the Legal Book Special Prize by the French Constitutional Court and the “Club des juristes”.

Adolfo Martin Jimenez is a tax law professor (full professorship), director of the Master on Tax Law and director of the Department of Public Law at the University of Cádiz, Spain. He specializes in international taxation and EU tax law and has authored or co-authored several books and more than 60 articles on the topic in Spanish or English. Adolfo has a PhD (European University Institute, Florence, Italy 1997) and an LLM (University of Wisconsin, 1995) and has been a visiting professor/scholar at other Spanish/foreign universities. He often participates in conferences on international and EU tax law in Spain and abroad and also has a broad experience in advising public and private entities on international and EU tax law.
Contributors

Georg Kofler is professor in tax law at Johannes Kepler University of Linz; he holds a Doctor juris (Dr. iur. with highest distinction, May 2002) and Doctor rerum socialium oeconomicarumque (Dr. rer. soc. oec with highest distinction, April 2003). In 2004 he graduated from the NYU LLM Program in International Taxation. In 2006 Georg Kofler received his venia docendi for his habilitation in the area of Austrian, international and European tax law and was awarded the Mitchell B. Caroll Prize 2007 by IFA. Since 2009 Georg Kofler is full professor of Tax Law at Johannes Kepler University Linz.

Juan Lopez-Rodriguez works as an Administrator in the Unit of Legislation on Direct Taxation of the Headquarters of Taxes and Customs Union with the European Commission.

Rein Matteotti has been a full professor of Swiss, European and international tax law and a director of the Tax Law Institute of the University of Bern since 2007. Since 2012 he holds the Chair of Swiss, European and International Tax Law at the University of Zurich. He advises and renders tax opinions in all areas of Swiss and international tax law. Previously, he worked as a tax lawyer for several years in one of the leading business law firms in Zurich. Prof. Matteotti obtained a Master of Laws in Taxation from Northwestern University School of Law, Chicago IL, in 2004 and a PhD from the University of Bern in 2003. Beside his academic activity, Prof. Matteotti has been appointed by the federal government and the federal treasury department as a member of various governmental tax policy commissions. He has acted as a permanent member of the VAT Consultancy Board since 2007. In 2009 he chaired the Corporate Tax Reform III Commission. Since 2010 he has been a member of the Strategy Board of the Corporate Tax Reform III. In addition, Prof. Matteotti has served as Editor in Chief of the leading scientific tax journal ASA since 2006. He speaks regularly at tax seminars and conferences and has published books and numerous articles on Swiss and international tax law. He is the main responsible co-editor and co-author of a treatise on international tax law. In spring 2011 he taught at Northwestern University, Chicago, as a visiting professor for Transnational Law.
Contributors

Pasquale Pistone is Jean-Monnet ad personam professor of European Tax Law and Policy at the Institute for Austrian and International Tax Law at the Vienna University of Economics and Business (WU), associate professor of Tax Law at the University of Salerno (Italy), member of the Junge Kurie of the Austrian Academy of Sciences, member of the Editorial Board of Intertax, the World Tax Journal and other distinguished international tax journals and author and editor of numerous publications on European and international tax law, published in several languages.

Ekkehart Reimer is full professor for public law with special focus on tax law at the University of Heidelberg. He received his venia legendi in 2005 and holds the chair for tax law since 2006. Moreover he is director of the Institute for Tax Law at the University of Heidelberg. Since 2009 he also acts as a judge at the administrative court of Baden-Württemberg (Germany). He is author of numerous publications in the field of national and international tax law.

D.P. Sengupta joined the Indian Revenue Service in 1975 and retired as Chief Commissioner of Income Tax (Central), Delhi. He served as Joint Secretary in the Tax Policy and Legislation Division of the Ministry of Finance. He was also the former Joint Secretary of the Foreign Tax Division in the Ministry of Finance and was the Competent Authority for India. He is currently the principal consultant to the National Institute of Public Finance and Policy, New Delhi.

Daniel S. Smit, LLM, first studied classical piano at the Royal Conservatory of The Hague. After that, he attended Erasmus University Rotterdam, where he studied Netherlands Law and Netherlands Tax Law and graduated cum laude. He currently teaches European and international tax law and is employed as a faculty staff member at the Fiscal Institute of the University of Tilburg; he also works as a tax advisor at Ernst & Young Tax Advisers in Rotterdam. He furthermore completed the post-graduate course in European Fiscal Studies at the Erasmus University Rotterdam in 2006. He is the author of various national and international publications in the field of European tax law. Daniel Smit is a regular guest speaker at national and international seminars, courses and lectures.

Fabian M. Sutter is an attorney-at-law at an international law firm in Zurich, specializing in national and international tax law. He previously was a research assistant at the Tax Law Institute of the University of Bern and at the University of Zurich.
Richard J. Vann is Challis Professor of Law at the University of Sydney and a consultant at Greenwoods & Freehills, Sydney. In 2006 he was William K Jacobs Jr Visiting Professor at Harvard Law School and he has taught regularly at New York University School of Law. He specializes in corporate, comparative and international taxation. He is a graduate of the University of Queensland, Australia and Oxford University, UK. Richard Vann has held many government consultancies in Australia, including the Review of Business Taxation (1998-1999), the Review of International Taxation (2002-2003), the Australian Taxation Office Public Rulings Panels on international and indirect taxation (1995-2007) and several recent and current reviews by the Board of Taxation (2007 to date). He has worked extensively for international organizations – including two fulltime periods as Counsel (Taxation) in the Legal Department of the International Monetary Fund, Washington DC, USA (1990-1991) and as Head, Central and Eastern Europe and NIS Program, Fiscal Affairs Division, Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development, Paris, France (1992-1995). He is a member of the Permanent Scientific Committee of the International Fiscal Association and an International Research Fellow of the Centre for Business Taxation at the Said Business School of Oxford University.