IBFD appoints Stuart Gibson in newly created role as Chief Editor, US

IBFD has appointed top tax lawyer, author, lecturer and editor, Stuart Gibson, in a brand new position as Chief Editor of its US operations.

In this new position, Stuart will play a key role in developing and executing IBFD's strategy and enhancing its position in the North American market, offering the best in international tax research, publications and training, attuned to the needs of today's digital users. He will help IBFD build on its strengths: independence and quality, while anticipating and meeting the needs of its customers.

"IBFD is delighted to announce the appointment of Stuart in this important role within our US operations. North America is a key growth area for IBFD and Stuart's appointment is central to realizing our goals," said IBFD Knowledge Centre Director, Belema R. Obuoforibo.

She continues, "He will be the driving force behind building and maintaining a strong network of authors and correspondents, while also spearheading the creation of new content and the enhancement of current content".

A highly regarded tax specialist, as well as a gifted writer and speaker, Stuart brings more than 30 years' experience as a trial lawyer, mostly as a senior litigator in the Tax Division of the US Department of Justice, litigating complex civil tax cases.

Stuart brings to this new position significant editorial experience gained from his most recent position as Director, International Tax, Bloomberg Tax & Accounting, and his earlier role as Editor of Tax Notes International, a weekly publication of Tax Analysts.
