IBFD Senior Principal Jan de Goede Appointed Visiting Professor by Renmin University of China

IBFD is pleased to announce that its Senior Principal of Tax Knowledge Management, Professor Jan de Goede, has been named Visiting Professor by the prestigious Renmin University of China in Beijing. The appointment will be formalized in an academic ceremony to be held during a seminar on recent developments in international tax law at the university on 18 April 2015.

Professor de Goede has an impressive track record in international and European tax law expertise. In this new capacity, he will regularly lecture on international tax law, and will also periodically be involved in organizing an international tax conference in cooperation with Renmin University.

IBFD's Academic Department already collaborates closely with this highly respected university through their joint research on domestic and international tax law, an alliance which will be further supported by Professor de Goede's appointment. IBFD's cooperation with some of the foremost universities is part of its global programme to stimulate research and learning in the fields of international, European and comparative taxation. Professor de Goede's visiting professorship will contribute to IBFD's further goal of strengthening its global academic network.

Already a strong presence in Asia, IBFD supports organizations and governments through its:

- online publications, books and journals on tax systems, tax treaties and international tax case law
- services including teaching, government consulting and tailored client research
- bi-yearly Asian Tax Authorities Symposium for delegates from more than 22 countries in Asia, as well as international organizations including the OECD, UN, World Bank and more
- leading academic events
