Contributors

Reuven S. Avi-Yonah is the Irwin I. Cohn Professor of Law and Director of the International Tax LLM Program at the University of Michigan Law School. He teaches the basic course on taxation and courses on international taxation, corporate taxation, tax treaties and transnational law. He has published numerous articles on domestic and international tax issues, and is the author of International Tax as International Law: U.S. Tax Law and the International Tax Regime (Cambridge Univ. Press, 2007) and U.S. International Taxation: Cases and Materials (Foundation Press, 2nd ed. 2005, with Brauner & Ring), and co-editor of Comparative Fiscal Federalism: Comparing the U.S. Supreme Court and European Court of Justice Tax Jurisprudence (Kluwer, 2007).

Andrés Báez Moreno is Associate Professor for Tax Law at the Universidad Pública de Navarra (Spain). He obtained his PhD at the Faculty of Law of the Universidad Carlos III de Madrid and completed his studies in Germany (University of Münster and University of Köln), the Netherlands (IBFD) and Italy (University of Padova). His main fields of research are commercial and tax accounting and tax-avoidance mechanisms (from a domestic, European and international perspective).

Niels Bammens is a PhD Candidate at the University of Leuven (Belgium), at the Institute for Tax Law. He is preparing a dissertation on the concept of non-discrimination in International and European tax law.

Fabian Barthel is a PhD student in Economic Geography at the Department of Geography and Environment at the London School of Economics and Political Science. His research interests encompass international economics (particularly foreign direct investment, double taxation treaties and official development assistance) and development economics.

Bernhard Brielmaier is a PhD Candidate and Research Assistant at the Chair for Tax Management and the Law of International and Liechtenstein Taxation (Prof. Dr Martin Wenz) at the University of Liechtenstein, Vaduz. He is also a tax professional in the Financial Services Tax Group of Deloitte in Munich.

Kim Brooks is the Dean at the Schulich School of Law at Dalhousie University in Halifax, Canada. She previously held the H. Heward Stikeman Chair in the Law of Taxation at McGill University in Montreal,
Contributors

Canada. Professor Brooks teaches all areas of tax law and policy. Her main research focus is Corporate and International Taxation.

Catherine Brown is a Professor at the Faculty of Law, University of Calgary where she has been teaching in the areas of taxation and business planning since 1981. She is co-author of the text Taxation and Estate Planning as well as numerous Canadian Tax Foundation and Estate Trust and Pension Journal publications. Her current research explores the interaction of tax and trade agreements in regulating tax discrimination.

Matthias Busse is Professor of International Economics at the Ruhr Universität of Bochum. Before joining the University, he did a one-semester stint as an interim professor of economics at the University of Trier in 2008/2009. From 2000 to 2008, he held a position as a senior economist and head of the World Economy Programme at the Hamburg Institute of International Economics (HWWA and HWWI). He received his PhD degree and his habilitation degree in economics, both at the University of Hamburg. His research interests focus on international trade, foreign direct investment and development economics.

Luc De Broe is Professor of Tax Law at the University of Leuven (Belgium), Senior of Counsel with Stibbe in Brussels and a member of the Executive Committee of the International Fiscal Association.

David G. Duff is a Professor and Associate Dean of the Faculty of Law at the University of British Columbia, which he joined in July 2008 after 12 years at the University of Toronto. Professor Duff has published widely in the areas of tax law and policy, is a member of the Board of Governors of the Canadian Tax Foundation, an Adjunct Research Fellow in Business Law and Economics at the Faculty of Business and Economics at Monash University, and an International Research Fellow at the Oxford University Centre for Business Taxation. Prior to his academic career, Professor Duff was a tax associate at the Toronto office of Stikeman Elliott LLP.

Wolfgang Eggert is Professor of Economics/Public Economics at the University of Freiburg. He received his PhD (summa) and venia legendi in Economics from the University of Konstanz. Prof. Eggert is Research Professor at the Ifo Institute for Economic Research in Munich. His fields of interests are within Public Economics, especially the Theory of Taxation. He has published in academic journals such as the Journal of Public Economics, Journal of International Economics, European Economic
Contributors

Carlo Garbarino is Professor of Taxation at Bocconi University, Milan; he has been a Visiting Scholar at Yale University Law School and a Visiting Professor at the Université Sorbonne-Paris, the University of Michigan Law School, and the University of San Paulo. He is a member of the Steering Committee of the PhD Program in International Economic Law of Bocconi. He earned a PhD in Comparative and International Taxation, and a Master of Laws at the University of Michigan. He is a member of International Network for Tax Research – OECD, Paris; Director of Osservatorio Fiscale e Contabile – SDA Bocconi, Editor-in-chief of Fiscalità Internazionale and member of the Board of Editors of EC Tax Review.

Marcel Gérard has studied economics at the University of Namur, at the University of Manchester, and at Harvard University as a CRB Graduate Fellow of the Belgian American Educational Foundation. He holds a doctoral degree in Economics and is currently Professor of Economics and Taxation and of European Economics at the Catholic Universities of Mons and Louvain, as well as at the FUSL, Brussels and the College of Europe in Bruges. He is also a Research Professor at the Ifo Institute for Economic Research in Munich, a CESifo Fellow and a permanent member of Idep. His research focuses on corporate and capital income taxation, investment, fiscal federalism and higher education, topics on which he has published a number of contributions.

Christiana HJI Panayi is a Senior Lecturer in Tax Law at the Centre for Commercial Law, Queen Mary, University of London and a researcher at the Institute for Fiscal Studies. She is also a Solicitor of England & Wales, an advocate of the Cyprus Supreme Court and a member of the Steering Group of the OECD’s International Network for Tax Research. Christiana studied at Oxford University for the BA in Jurisprudence and for the BCL. She also has a PhD from the London School of Economics. Before joining Queen Mary, she worked for Allen & Overy LLP. Christiana has published extensively in the area of European and International Tax Law and speaks regularly at tax conferences.

Jun-ichi Itaya is Professor of Economics at Hokkaido University. He received his PhD from the University of Rochester. Prof. Itaya is affiliated to the CESifo research network. His fields of interests are Public Economics, Growth Theory and Game Theory. Prof. Itaya has published in academic journals such as the Journal of Public Economics, Canadian Journal of Economics, Journal of Public Economic Theory and Economics Letters.

Domingo J. Jiménez-Valladolid de L'Hotellerie-Fallois is a Research and Teaching Assistant of the Ministry of Education of Spain at the Tax Law Department of the Autonomous University of Madrid. He obtained a Law degree, a Business Administration degree and an LLM in Business Law from Autonomous University of Madrid and a specialization in Tax Law from Complutense University of Madrid. He has published several articles on National and International Tax Law.

Eric C.C.M. Kemmeren is Professor of International Tax Law and International Taxation at the Fiscal Institute Tilburg of Tilburg University, the Netherlands. He is also a member of the board of the European Tax College, Deputy Justice of the Arnhem Court of Appeals (Tax Division), and of counsel to Ernst & Young, Tax Advisers in Rotterdam, the Netherlands.

Richard Krever is a Professor in the Department of Business Law and Taxation at Monash University, Australia and Director of the University’s Taxation Law and Policy Research Institute.

Matthias Langer is a PhD Candidate and Research Assistant at the Chair for Tax Management and the Law of International and Liechtenstein Taxation (Prof. Dr Martin Wenz) at the University of Liechtenstein, Vaduz.

Alexander Linn is an Assistant Professor at the Chair for Tax Management and the Law of International and Liechtenstein Taxation (Prof. Dr Martin Wenz) at the University of Liechtenstein, Vaduz. He is also a Manager and Certified and Licensed German Tax Advisor in the International Tax Outbound Services Group of Deloitte in Munich.

Marina Lombardo graduated with honours in Economics and Corporate Law from Bocconi University; she has further completed the Italian Masters in Corporate Tax Law, is a qualified Italian tax and business advisor, completed her LLM in International Tax Law at the WU Vienna University of Economics and Business and received her PhD in International Law and Economics from Bocconi University. She has published on Corporate and International Tax Law and is a member of the EATLP Network for Doctoral Candidates in Tax Law.
Guglielmo Maisto is Professor of International and Comparative Tax Law at the Catholic University of Piacenza and founding partner of the tax law firm Maisto e Associati (Milan-London-Rome). He is the Chairman of the IBFD Delegated Board of Trustees and a member of the IFA Permanent Scientific Committee, the International Academy of Estate and Trust Law, and the EU Joint Transfer Pricing Forum. He represents the Italian Association of Industries at the OECD Business Industry Advisory Committee and is a member of several editorial boards of various Italian and foreign tax legal journals.

Michael J. McIntyre is Professor of Law at Wayne State University, where he has taught various tax courses since 1975. He has written widely on a variety of tax topics, including the taxation of the family, the proper tax treatment of interest payments, the international aspects of taxation, and various topics on multistate taxation. Prior to coming to Wayne State, Professor McIntyre practiced with a tax firm in Washington, DC, and served for four years as the director of training at the International Tax Program of Harvard Law School. He was the founding Editor-in-Chief (1989-91) of Tax Notes International, a leading tax journal dealing with international tax issues around the world. Over the past three decades, Professor McIntyre has consulted widely on a range of tax policy issues for various public bodies, including the United Nations, the OECD and many national and state governments.

Jack Mintz was appointed Palmer Chair in Public Policy, University of Calgary, January 2008; Professor of Business Economics, Rotman School of Business, 1989-2007; Visiting Professor, New York University Law School, 2007; President and CEO, C.D. Howe Institute 1999-2006; Clifford Clark Visiting Economist Dept. Finance, Ottawa; Chair, Federal Government’s Technical Committee on Business Taxation, 1996 & 1997; Associate Dean (Academic), Faculty of Management, University of Toronto, 1993-1995; founding Editor-in-Chief, International Tax and Public Finance, 1994-2001; recently chaired the Alberta Financial & Investment Policy Advisory Commission reporting to the Alberta Minister of Finance; and was research director for the Federal-Provincial Territorial Minister’s Working Group on Retirement Income Research.

Eric Neumayer MSc Econ (Saarbrucken), MSc, PhD (London School of Economics and Political Science) is Professor of Environment and Development and currently the Head of the Department of Geography and Environment. He specializes in environmental and ecological economics but has a broad social science background and publishes widely in refereed journals across a range of disciplines, including geography, development studies, economics, conflict studies, political science and international relations. He is also an Associate with the Center for the Study of Civil War, International Peace Research Institute Oslo (PRI).

Cees Peters is a Lecturer at the Fiscal Institute Tilburg of Tilburg University. He is currently working on a PhD dissertation about non-discrimination provisions. The working title of this study is “Global equality in corporate taxation”.

Pasquale Pistone is EURYI-ESF Professor of European and International Tax Law (as of 1 October 2010 holder of Ad Personam Jean Monnet Chair on European tax law and policy) at the WU Vienna University of Economics and Business (Austria); Associate Professor of Tax Law at the University of Salerno (Italy); Visiting Professor at the Schools of Law of the University of Melbourne and Monash University (Australia), at the University of Lisbon (Portugal) and Paris 2 Panthéon-Assas (France). He is a member of the Junge Kurie of the Austrian Academy of Sciences; member of the Editorial Board of Intertax, the World Tax Journal and of other distinguished international tax journals. He is also the author and editor of numerous publications on European and International Tax Law published in several languages. The author can be contacted at pasquale.pistone@wu.ac.at.

Alexander Rust, LLM (NYU), is Associate Professor at the Université du Luxembourg where he teaches European and International Tax Law. He studied in Freiburg, Geneva, Munich and New York, wrote his PhD thesis on the “Compatibility of CFC legislation with tax treaty and EU law”, and previously worked as Acting Assistant Professor at New York University. The author can be contacted at Alexander.Rust@uni.lu.

Friedrich Schneider is Full Professor of Economics at the Johannes Kepler University of Linz, Austria. He obtained his PhD in Economics from the University of Konstanz in 1976 and has since held numerous visiting and honorary positions at a number of universities. He was Dean and Vice President of the University of Linz, President of the Austrian Economic Association and the German Economic Association (Verein für Socialpolitik). He has published extensively in leading economics journals including AER, QJE, EJ and JEL. He has also published numerous books... including Readings in Public Choice and Constitutional Political Economy (together with Charles K. Rowley), and the Economics of the Hidden Economy (editor of two volumes).

D.P. Sengupta joined the Indian Revenue Service in 1975 and retired as Chief Commissioner of Income Tax (Central), Delhi. He served as Joint Secretary in the Tax Policy and Legislation Division of the Ministry of Finance. He was also the former Joint Secretary of the Foreign Tax Division in the Ministry of Finance and was the Competent Authority for India.

Victor Thuronyi is a graduate of Cambridge University and Harvard Law School. He has practiced tax law, served in the U.S. Treasury Department, and taught tax law, before joining the International Monetary Fund in 1991. He has worked on tax reform in numerous countries. He is the author of Comparative Tax Law (2003) and other writings on tax law and policy. He currently is senior counsel (taxation), IMF.

Edoardo Traversa is Professor of Tax Law at the Law Faculty of the Catholic University of Louvain (Belgium). He holds a joint PhD from the Universities of Louvain (Belgium) and Bologna (Italy). His research focuses on both direct and indirect aspects of European and International Tax Law. He is also member of the Brussels Bar, practising at Liedekerke Wolters Waelbroeck Kirkpatrick.

Félix Alberto Vega Borrego is a Professor of Tax Law at the Autonomous University of Madrid. He specializes in the field of International Taxation and is the author of several articles and books on Spanish and International Tax Law. He is also a member of the Spanish Branch of the International Fiscal Association and has participated as a panellist at the 61st IFA Congress (Kyoto, 2007).
Contributors

Martin Wenz is a full-time Professor and holds the Chair for Tax Management and the Law of International and Liechtenstein Taxation, is Head of the Institute for Financial Services at the University of Liechtenstein, Vaduz, chairman of the Liechtenstein working group of tax experts and gives advice to the Government of the Principality of Liechtenstein for developing a draft for a total revision of the Liechtenstein tax law and different drafts for negotiating double tax treaties and tax information exchange agreements between Liechtenstein and foreign nations and jurisdictions.

Hannes Winner is Professor of Economics at the University of Salzburg. He received his PhD (cum laude) and the venia docendi in Economics from University of Innsbruck. In 2003 he was visiting professor at the European University Institute in Florence. His fields of interest include Public Economics and Economics of Taxation, Health Economics, and Applied Econometrics. He has published in academic journals such as the Journal of International Economics, European Economic Review, International Tax and Public Finance, Regional Science and Urban Economics and the Canadian Journal of Economics. His current research is on the empirical impact of taxation on location, investment and financing decisions of (multinational) firms.

Juan José Zornoza Pérez is Full Professor for Public Finance and Tax Law at the University Carlos III de Madrid (Spain), and Lawyer of the Madrid Bar Association. He also lectures at the Universities of Paris X (Nanterre, France) and Externado de Colombia on a regular basis and during 2008 has been Academic Visitor at the Faculty of Law in the University of Oxford. He is also advisor for public administrations and external consultant in tax matters for several law firms (Garrigues, Uría & Menéndez, Cuatrecasas and De la Oliva & Ayala). His main fields of research are tax-avoidance mechanisms (from a domestic, European and international perspective), tax accounting and the regional distribution of taxing powers.