Foreword		V
List of abbrev	viations	vii
Chapter 1: Introduction		3
1.1.	The problem	3
1.2.	Purpose	6
1.3.	Definitions and terminology	10
1.3.1.	The principle of territoriality (in international law), the fiscal principle of territoriality and the principle of worldwide taxation	10
1.3.2.	Capital import neutrality and capital export neutrality	11
1.3.3.	The ability-to-pay principle and the benefit principle	14
1.4.	Limitations	15
1.5.	Previous research	19
1.6.	Method	21
1.6.1.	Legal method used in the dissertation	21
1.6.2.	Links with other disciplines	23
1.6.3.	Language	24
1.6.4.	Research method applied to the dissertation	25
1.7.	Outline	26
Chapter 2: In	ternational Law and Tax Jurisdiction over Foreign
Bu	usiness Income	31
2.1.	Introduction	31
2.2.	Jurisdiction in international law	33
2.2.1.	Introduction	33
2.2.2.	Principles of jurisdiction to prescribe	35
2.2.2.1.	The principle of territoriality as a jurisdiction
	principle in international law	36
2.2.2.2.	Other jurisdiction principles	39
2.2.2.3.	Conclusion	40
2.2.3.	Does international law require a genuine or minimum connection to exercise jurisdiction?	40
2.2.4.	Is there a hierarchy between the different jurisdiction principles to avoid concurring
	jurisdictional claims?	42
2.2.5.	Conclusion	44

	2.3. 2.3.1.	Tax jurisdiction over foreign business income May a state take into account foreign elements when exercising jurisdiction to prescribe in the	45
		field of tax law?	45
	2.3.1.1.	Introduction	45
	2.3.1.2.	Tax jurisdiction on resident taxpayers: Is it compatible with international law to tax residents on their worldwide income?	47
	2.3.1.3.	Tax jurisdiction on non-resident taxpayers: Is it compatible with international law to tax
	2.2.2	non-residents on worldwide income?	52
	2.3.2.	Does international law impose a minimum	~ 1
	2.2.2	connection to exercise tax jurisdiction?	54
	2.3.3.	Overlaps between tax claims of several states:	61
	2.3.4.	Does international law prohibit double taxation? May states refuse to take into account foreign	01
	2.3.4.	elements when exercising their taxing powers?	62
	2.4.	Conclusion	63
	2.4.1.	Summary of the findings and illustration of states'	03
	2.1.1.	tax jurisdiction in relation to different territorial connections	63
	2.4.2.	Member States' fiscal sovereignty with regard to
		EU law	67
Ch	apter 3: Taxa	ntion of Resident Companies on Income of Foreign
		ip Companies	71
	3.1.	Introduction	71
	3.2.	Application of the principle of worldwide taxation	/ 1
	3.2.	to foreign companies' profits: The Cadbury
		Schweppes case	73
	3.2.1.	Introduction and presentation of the Cadbury	, 5
		Schweppes case	73
	3.2.2.	Reasoning of the ECJ and choice of a comparator	76
	3.2.2.1.	Comparison between the ownership in foreign and domestic subsidiaries	76
	3.2.2.2.	Comparison of CFC rules with the taxation of
		inbound dividends	80
	3.2.2.3.	Comparison of CFC rules with the taxation of a permanent establishment	83
	3.2.2.4.	Conclusion	86
	3.2.3.	Consequences of Cadbury Schweppes with regard	c -
		to the principle of worldwide taxation	87

3.2.3.1.	CFC rules and the taxation of a non-resident's
	foreign income	87
3.2.3.2.	May a Member State favour the principle of worldwide taxation over the fiscal principle of	00
22221	territoriality for the prevention of tax avoidance?	89
3.2.3.2.1.	CFC taxation – A means to prevent the abuse of	0.0
	EU law	90
3.2.3.2.2.	The prevention of tax avoidance through CFC rules:
	Drawing the line between abusive and non-abusive situations	96
3.2.3.3.	CFC rules imply a different treatment between domestic and foreign subsidiaries for the shareholder: Can Cadbury Schweppes be reconciled with FII Group Litigation?	98
3.2.4.	Conclusion on CFC rules and the application of the principle of worldwide taxation at a group level	100
3.3.	Deduction of negative income incurred by foreign
	group companies	101
3.3.1.	Introduction	102
3.3.2.	Presentation of the Marks & Spencer, Oy AA and
	X Holding cases	105
3.3.2.1.	The Marks and Spencer case	105
3.3.2.2.	The Oy AA case	107
3.3.2.3.	The X Holding case	108
3.3.3.	The choice of comparator	109
3.3.3.1.	Comparison between domestic and foreign group
	companies	110
3.3.3.2.	Comparison between foreign subsidiaries and permanent establishments	112
3.3.3.2.1.	Comparison between foreign subsidiaries and permanent establishments in Marks & Spencer	113
3.3.3.2.2.	Comparison between foreign subsidiaries and permanent establishments in X Holding	115
3.3.4.	Relief for non-final losses incurred by foreign
	group companies	117
3.3.4.1.	The Marks & Spencer case	117
3.3.4.1.1.	The justification level	118
3.3.4.1.2.	The proportionality level	125
3.3.4.2.	The X Holding case	128
3.3.4.3.	The Oy AA case	130
3.3.4.4.	Conclusion on the relief for non-final losses
	incurred by foreign group companies	131

	3.3.5.	Relief for final losses incurred by foreign group companies	133
	3.3.5.1.	The relevance of cross-border loss relief within	100
		the internal market	134
	3.3.5.2.	Defining "final" losses	135
	3.3.5.3.	The discrepancy between international double taxation and the double non-deduction of final losses	138
	3.3.5.4.	The perspective from which final losses should be computed: Capital export neutrality vs capital
		import neutrality	141
	3.3.5.5.	Which group company should be granted relief
		for final losses?	144
	3.3.5.5.1.	Should loss relief be granted only to a parent company or could it also be granted to other group
		companies?	145
	3.3.5.5.2.	Granting loss relief to the parent company:
		The dilemma between direct and ultimate parent	1.47
	2256	companies	147
	3.3.5.6.	Conclusion on the relief for final losses incurred	1.40
	3.3.6.	by foreign group companies	148
	3.3.0.	Conclusion on losses incurred by foreign group companies	150
	3.4.	Conclusion of Chap. 3	150
	3.4.	Conclusion of Chap. 5	150
Cha	apter 4: Taxa	ation of Resident Companies on Foreign Business
		me Earned through Permanent Establishments	153
	4.1.	Introduction	153
	4.2.	Application of the principle of worldwide taxation	133
	7.2.	in the Member State of residence	155
	4.2.1.	Introduction	155
	4.2.2.	The Columbus Container case	158
	4.2.2.1.	Presentation of Columbus Container	158
	4.2.2.2.	Discussion of Columbus Container	159
	4.2.2.2.1.	Columbus Container and compatibility of the principle of worldwide taxation with EU law	160
	4.2.2.2.2.	Columbus Container and the prevention of tax avoidance: Can Columbus Container and Cadbury
		Schweppes be reconciled?	162
	4.2.2.2.2.1.	Comparing Columbus Container and Cadbury
		Schweppes	162

4.2.2.2.2.2.	The apparent incompatibility between Columbus
	Container and Cadbury Schweppes	165
4.2.2.2.3.	Compatibility with EU law of the non-discriminatory taxation of foreign income:
	Discrimination-based
	analysis vs restriction-based analysis	168
4.2.3.	The Krankenheim case	176
4.2.3.1.	Presentation of Krankenheim	176
4.2.3.2.	Discussion of Krankenheim with regard to the taxation of foreign profits	177
4.2.4.	EU law and the grant of a full tax credit	181
4.2.4.1.	Introduction	181
4.2.4.2.	Illustration of the potential advantages of a full tax credit and presentation of the Gilly case	183
4.2.4.3.	May the objective of achievement of the internal market require granting a full tax credit?	186
4.2.5.	Conclusion on the taxation of the positive income of permanent establishments	188
4.3.	Application of the fiscal principle of territoriality
	in the Member State of residence	190
4.3.1.	Introduction	190
4.3.2.	Presentation of the Deutsche Shell , Lidl Belgium	170
	and Krankenheim cases	192
4.3.2.1.	The Deutsche Shell case	192
4.3.2.2.	The Lidl Belgium case	193
4.3.2.3.	The Krankenheim case	194
4.3.3.	Discussion of the solutions reached in Deutsche	17.
	Shell, Lidl Belgium and Krankenheim with regard to foreign losses	195
4.3.3.1.	Relief for non-final losses incurred by a permanent	1,0
	establishment	196
4.3.3.1.1.	Consequences of the exemption method chosen in	170
	a tax treaty	196
4.3.3.1.2.	The justification level	198
4.3.3.1.3.	The proportionality level	200
4.3.3.1.4.	Conclusion on the relief for non-final losses	200
1.3.3.1.1.	incurred by a permanent establishment	202
4.3.3.2.	Relief for final losses incurred by a permanent	202
	establishment	205
4.3.3.2.1.	Analysis of Lidl Belgium with regard to final	200 losses incurred by a permanent establishment
	subject to the exemption method	205
	subject to the exemption method	200

4.3.3.2.3. Arguments pleading for granting relief for final losses incurred by a permanent establishment subject to the exemption method 4.3.4. Conclusion on the application of the fiscal principle of territoriality to permanent establishments 4.4. The possible requirement of most favoured nation treatment in the Member State of residence with regard to foreign business income 4.4.1. Introduction 4.4.2. The absence of requirement of a most favoured nation treatment in ECI case law 4.4.3. Arguments supporting the view that EU law should not require most favoured nation treatment as far as the taxation of business income is concerned 4.4.4. Conclusion 4.5. Conclusion on the extent of the tax jurisdiction of the Member State of residence Chapter 5: Taxation of the Foreign Business Income Attributable to a Permanent Establishment by the Member State of establishment 5.1. Introduction 5.2. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.1. Introduction 5.2.2. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.3. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 5.3. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case losses incurred by a permanent establishment subject to the exemption method 4.3.4. Conclusion on the application of the fiscal principle of territoriality to permanent establishments 4.4. The possible requirement of most favoured nation treatment in the Member State of residence with regard to foreign business income 4.4.1. Introduction 4.4.2. The absence of requirement of a most favoured nation treatment in ECJ case law 4.4.3. Arguments supporting the view that EU law should not require most favoured nation treatment as far as the taxation of business income is concerned 4.4.4. Conclusion 4.5. Conclusion on the extent of the tax jurisdiction of the Member State of residence 2. Chapter 5: Taxation of the Foreign Business Income Attributable to a Permanent Establishment by the Member State of establishment 5.1. Introduction 5.2. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.1. Introduction 5.2.2. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.2.5. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case				206
subject to the exemption method 4.3.4. Conclusion on the application of the fiscal principle of territoriality to permanent establishments 4.4. The possible requirement of most favoured nation treatment in the Member State of residence with regard to foreign business income 4.4.1. Introduction 4.4.2. The absence of requirement of a most favoured nation treatment in ECJ case law 4.4.3. Arguments supporting the view that EU law should not require most favoured nation treatment as far as the taxation of business income is concerned 4.4.4. Conclusion 4.5. Conclusion on the extent of the tax jurisdiction of the Member State of residence 2. Chapter 5: Taxation of the Foreign Business Income Attributable to a Permanent Establishment by the Member State of establishment 5.1. Introduction 5.2. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.1. Introduction 5.2.2. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.2.5. Conclusion 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case		4.3.3.2.3.
4.3.4. Conclusion on the application of the fiscal principle of territoriality to permanent establishments 4.4. The possible requirement of most favoured nation treatment in the Member State of residence with regard to foreign business income 4.4.1. Introduction 4.4.2. The absence of requirement of a most favoured nation treatment in ECJ case law 4.4.3. Arguments supporting the view that EU law should not require most favoured nation treatment as far as the taxation of business income is concerned 4.5. Conclusion 4.5. Conclusion on the extent of the tax jurisdiction of the Member State of residence Chapter 5: Taxation of the Foreign Business Income Attributable to a Permanent Establishment by the Member State of establishment 5.1. Introduction 5.2. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.1. Introduction 5.2.2. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.2.5. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.6. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.1. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.3.5. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case				208 principle of territoriality to permanent establishments 4.4. The possible requirement of most favoured nation treatment in the Member State of residence with regard to foreign business income 4.4.1. Introduction 4.4.2. The absence of requirement of a most favoured nation treatment in ECJ case law 4.4.3. Arguments supporting the view that EU law should not require most favoured nation treatment as far as the taxation of business income is concerned 4.4.4. Conclusion 4.5. Conclusion on the extent of the tax jurisdiction of the Member State of residence Chapter 5: Taxation of the Foreign Business Income Attributable to a Permanent Establishment by the Member State of establishment 5.1. Introduction 5.2. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.1. Introduction 5.2.2. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.3.5. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 2.5.3.1. Introduction 2.5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case		131	•	200 establishments 4.4. The possible requirement of most favoured nation treatment in the Member State of residence with regard to foreign business income 4.4.1. Introduction 4.4.2. The absence of requirement of a most favoured nation treatment in ECJ case law 4.4.3. Arguments supporting the view that EU law should not require most favoured nation treatment as far as the taxation of business income is concerned 4.4.4. Conclusion 4.5. Conclusion on the extent of the tax jurisdiction of the Member State of residence Chapter 5: Taxation of the Foreign Business Income Attributable to a Permanent Establishment by the Member State of establishment 5.1. Introduction 5.2. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.1. Introduction 5.2.2. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.2.5. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.3.5. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case		4.5.4.
4.4. The possible requirement of most favoured nation treatment in the Member State of residence with regard to foreign business income 4.4.1. Introduction 4.4.2. The absence of requirement of a most favoured nation treatment in ECJ case law 4.4.3. Arguments supporting the view that EU law should not require most favoured nation treatment as far as the taxation of business income is concerned 4.4.4. Conclusion 4.5. Conclusion on the extent of the tax jurisdiction of the Member State of residence Chapter 5: Taxation of the Foreign Business Income Attributable to a Permanent Establishment by the Member State of establishment 5.1. Introduction 5.2. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.1. Introduction 5.2.2. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.2.5. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.3.5. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case				213 treatment in the Member State of residence with regard to foreign business income 4.4.1. Introduction 4.4.2. The absence of requirement of a most favoured nation treatment in ECJ case law 4.4.3. Arguments supporting the view that EU law should not require most favoured nation treatment as far as the taxation of business income is concerned 4.4.4. Conclusion 4.5. Conclusion of the Eoreign Business Income Attributable to a Permanent Establishment by the Member State of establishment 5.1. Introduction 5.2. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.1. Introduction 5.2.2. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.2.5.5.5.1. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case		1.1		213 regard to foreign business income 4.4.1. Introduction 4.4.2. The absence of requirement of a most favoured nation treatment in ECJ case law 4.4.3. Arguments supporting the view that EU law should not require most favoured nation treatment as far as the taxation of business income is concerned 4.4.4. Conclusion 4.5. Conclusion on the extent of the tax jurisdiction of the Member State of residence Chapter 5: Taxation of the Foreign Business Income Attributable to a Permanent Establishment by the Member State of establishment 5.1. Introduction 5.2. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.1. Introduction 5.2.2. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.2.5. Toxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.2.5. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case		т.т.	÷
4.4.1. Introduction 4.4.2. The absence of requirement of a most favoured nation treatment in ECJ case law 4.4.3. Arguments supporting the view that EU law should not require most favoured nation treatment as far as the taxation of business income is concerned 4.4.4. Conclusion 4.5. Conclusion on the extent of the tax jurisdiction of the Member State of residence Chapter 5: Taxation of the Foreign Business Income Attributable to a Permanent Establishment by the Member State of establishment 5.1. Introduction 5.2. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.1. Introduction 5.2.2. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.2.5. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case				214
4.4.2. The absence of requirement of a most favoured nation treatment in ECJ case law 4.4.3. Arguments supporting the view that EU law should not require most favoured nation treatment as far as the taxation of business income is concerned 4.4.4. Conclusion 4.5. Conclusion on the extent of the tax jurisdiction of the Member State of residence Chapter 5: Taxation of the Foreign Business Income Attributable to a Permanent Establishment by the Member State of establishment 5.1. Introduction 5.2. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.1. Introduction 5.2.2. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.2.5. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case		441		214
A.4.3. Arguments supporting the view that EU law should not require most favoured nation treatment as far as the taxation of business income is concerned 4.4.4. Conclusion 4.5. Conclusion on the extent of the tax jurisdiction of the Member State of residence Chapter 5: Taxation of the Foreign Business Income Attributable to a Permanent Establishment by the Member State of establishment 5.1. Introduction 5.2. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.1. Introduction 5.2.2. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.2.5. Conclusion 5.2.6. Conclusion 5.2.7. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case				217
4.4.3. Arguments supporting the view that EU law should not require most favoured nation treatment as far as the taxation of business income is concerned 4.4.4. Conclusion 4.5. Conclusion on the extent of the tax jurisdiction of the Member State of residence Chapter 5: Taxation of the Foreign Business Income Attributable to a Permanent Establishment by the Member State of establishment 5.1. Introduction 5.2. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.1. Introduction 5.2.2. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.2.5. Conclusion 5.3.1. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case		7.7.2.		216 should not require most favoured nation treatment as far as the taxation of business income is concerned 4.4.4. Conclusion 4.5. Conclusion on the extent of the tax jurisdiction of the Member State of residence 2 Chapter 5: Taxation of the Foreign Business Income Attributable to a Permanent Establishment by the Member State of establishment 5.1. Introduction 5.2. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 2 5.2.1. Introduction 5.2.2. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.2.5. Conclusion 5.3.1. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case		443		210
as far as the taxation of business income is concerned 4.4.4. Conclusion 4.5. Conclusion on the extent of the tax jurisdiction of the Member State of residence 2 Chapter 5: Taxation of the Foreign Business Income Attributable to a Permanent Establishment by the Member State of establishment 5.1. Introduction 5.2. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 2 5.2.1. Introduction 2 5.2.2. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.3.1. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 2 5.3.1. Introduction 2 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case		7.7.3.
concerned 4.4.4. Conclusion 4.5. Conclusion on the extent of the tax jurisdiction of the Member State of residence Chapter 5: Taxation of the Foreign Business Income Attributable to a Permanent Establishment by the Member State of establishment 5.1. Introduction 5.2. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.1. Introduction 5.2.2. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.2.5. Conclusion 5.3.1. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case			*
4.4.4. Conclusion 4.5. Conclusion on the extent of the tax jurisdiction of the Member State of residence Chapter 5: Taxation of the Foreign Business Income Attributable to a Permanent Establishment by the Member State of establishment 5.1. Introduction 5.2. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.1. Introduction 5.2.2. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.2.5. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case				217
4.5. Conclusion on the extent of the tax jurisdiction of the Member State of residence 2 Chapter 5: Taxation of the Foreign Business Income Attributable to a Permanent Establishment by the Member State of establishment 2 5.1. Introduction 2 5.2. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 2 5.2.1. Introduction 2 5.2.2. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 2 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 2 5.2.4. Conclusion 2 5.3.1. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 2 5.3.1. Introduction 2 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 2 5.3.2.1. The Futura case 2		444		220
Chapter 5: Taxation of the Foreign Business Income Attributable to a Permanent Establishment by the Member State of establishment 5.1. Introduction 5.2. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.1. Introduction 5.2.2. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case				220
Chapter 5: Taxation of the Foreign Business Income Attributable to a Permanent Establishment by the Member State of establishment 5.1. Introduction 5.2. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.1. Introduction 5.2.2. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.3.1. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case		1.5.	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·	220
to a Permanent Establishment by the Member State of establishment 5.1. Introduction 5.2. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.1. Introduction 5.2.2. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.3.1. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case			of the Member State of residence	220
to a Permanent Establishment by the Member State of establishment 5.1. Introduction 5.2. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.1. Introduction 5.2.2. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.3.1. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case	Cha	apter 5: Taxa	ation of the Foreign Business Income Attributable
5.1. Introduction 5.2. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.1. Introduction 5.2.2. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.3. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case
5.2. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 2 5.2.1. Introduction 2 5.2.2. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 2 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 2 5.2.4. Conclusion 2 5.3.1. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 2 5.3.1. Introduction 2 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 2 5.3.2.1. The Futura case 2			•	223
to a permanent establishment 5.2.1. Introduction 5.2.2. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.3. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case		5.1.	Introduction	223
to a permanent establishment 5.2.1. Introduction 5.2.2. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.3. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case		5.2.	Taxation of foreign positive income attributable
5.2.1. Introduction 5.2.2. ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.3. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case				224
positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.3. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case		5.2.1.	=	224
positive income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.3. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case		5.2.2.	ECJ case law transposed to the taxation of foreign establishment 5.2.3. Taxation of foreign positive income attributable to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 5.2.4. Conclusion 5.3. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 5.3.1. Introduction 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 5.3.2.1. The Futura case to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 2 5.2.4. Conclusion 2 5.3. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 2 5.3.1. Introduction 2 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 2 5.3.2.1. The Futura case 2			-	225
to a permanent establishment: Tax policy considerations 2 5.2.4. Conclusion 2 5.3. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 2 5.3.1. Introduction 2 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 2 5.3.2.1. The Futura case 2		5.2.3.	Taxation of foreign positive income attributable considerations 2 5.2.4. Conclusion 2 5.3. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 2 5.3.1. Introduction 2 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 2 5.3.2.1. The Futura case 2 5.3. The tax treatment of foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment 2 5.3.1. Introduction 2 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 2 5.3.2.1. The Futura case 2				227
attributable to a permanent establishment 2 5.3.1. Introduction 2 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 2 5.3.2.1. The Futura case 2		5.2.4.	Conclusion	230
attributable to a permanent establishment 2 5.3.1. Introduction 2 5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 2 5.3.2.1. The Futura case 2		5.3.	The tax treatment of foreign negative income
5.3.2. ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source 2 5.3.2.1. The Futura case 2				230 negative income in the Member State of source 2 5.3.2.1. The Futura case 2		5.3.1.	Introduction	230 negative income in the Member State of source 2 5.3.2.1. The Futura case 2		5.3.2.	ECJ case law on the tax treatment of foreign 231
5.3.2.2. The Centro Equestre case 2		5.3.2.1.	The Futura case	231
		5.3.2.2.	The Centro Equestre case	233

	5.3.2.3.	The tax treatment of foreign negative income in the Member State of source according to case law applying the Schumacker doctrine: The Renneberg case	236
	5.3.3.	Discussion of Futura and Centro Equestre with regard to foreign negative income attributable to a permanent establishment	239
	5.3.3.1.	Introduction	239
	5.3.3.2.	Attribution to a permanent establishment of costs originally borne by a foreign entity	242
	5.3.3.3.	Foreign negative income incurred when a permanent establishment carries on business activities in a third state	245
	5.3.3.4.	Application of the profit split method when the enterprise is globally loss-making	248
	5.3.3.5.	Final losses incurred outside the territory of the
		Member State of establishment	251
	5.4.	Conclusion on the tax jurisdiction of the Member
		State of establishment	252
Ch	apter 6: Inte	rnational Double Taxation and the Objective of ievement of the Internal Market	255
	6.1.	Introduction	255
	6.2.	The relation between the EU Treaties and
		international double taxation	258
	6.2.1.	Double taxation and the concept of an internal
		market	258
	6.2.2.	Consequences of former Art. 293 TEC and its repeal by the Treaty of Lisbon	267
	6.2.3.	International double taxation and Art. 6 TEU	269
	6.2.3.1.	The possible legal value in the EU legal system of the European Convention for the Protection of Human Rights and the Charter of Fundamental Rights with regard to double taxation	271
	6.2.3.1.1.	The possible legal value in the EU legal system of the Charter of Fundamental Rights with regard to
		international double taxation	271
	6.2.3.1.2.	The possible legal value in the EU legal system of the European Convention for the Protection of Human Rights with regard to double taxation	274

6.2.3.2.	Possible consequences of the protection of possessions and the principle of ne bis in idem
	with regard to international double taxation	276
6.2.3.2.1.	Possible consequences of the protection of	_, 0
0.2.3.2.1.	possessions under Art. 6 TEU with regard to international double taxation within the internal
	market	276
6.2.3.2.2.	Possible consequences of the principle of ne bis in idem under Art. 6 TEU with regard to
	international double taxation	280
6.2.4.	Conclusion on the relation between the EU
	Treaties and international double taxation	282
6.3.	The relation between ECJ case law and
	international double taxation	282
6.3.1.	International double taxation may be incompatible with EU law	283
6.3.1.1.	Double taxation may be incompatible with EU law
	as a consequence of the taxing rights exercised by the Member State of source	283
6.3.1.2.	Double taxation may be incompatible with EU law
	as a consequence of the taxing rights exercised by
	the Member State of residence	287
6.3.1.3.	Conclusion on situations of double taxation that may be incompatible with EU law	290
6.3.2.	Double taxation as a result of the non-discriminatory tax jurisdiction exercised by a Member State	290
6.3.2.1.	Double burdens in direct tax cases	291
6.3.2.2.	Double burdens in the field of social contributions	295
6.3.2.2.1.	The perspective of the host Member State	295
6.3.2.2.2.	The perspective of the home Member State	296
6.3.2.2.3.	Analysis of the different outcomes for social contributions and direct taxes with regard to double burdens	297
6.3.3.	The acceptance of double taxation is difficult to reconcile with case law on double non-deduction of negative income	299
6.4.	Conclusions on the relation between international double taxation and the objective of achievement of the internal market	302

Chapter 7	: Reconsidering Cross-Border Loss Relief: Should Final Foreign Losses Necessarily Be Deducted in the Home State?	305
7.1.	Introduction	305
7.2.	Requiring from the home state an automatic and unconditional relief for all the final losses incurred in the host state: A satisfactory solution?	308
7.2.1.	An automatic and unconditional relief for all the final losses in the home state creates tax planning
7.2.2.	opportunities An automatic and unconditional relief for all the	308
7.2.2.	final losses in the home state may contradict the arm's length principle	313
7.3.	Requiring from the host state a tax refund corresponding to the value of the final losses for tax purposes: A convincing alternative to the
	Marks & Spencer doctrine?	319
7.4.	The suggested solution: A split of final losses	222
7.5.	between the home state and the host state Possible methods for splitting the final foreign	322
5.5.4	losses between the home state and the host state	327
7.5.1.	Splitting the final foreign losses on the basis of an allocation key	328
7.5.2.	Splitting the final foreign losses on the basis of the
7.6	arm's length principle	333
7.6.	Conclusion	337
Chapter 8	: Summary and Conclusions	339
8.1.	Introduction	339
8.2.	Summary of the main findings of the dissertation	339
8.3.	Reconciliation of the findings and discussion from a tax policy perspective	342
8.3.1.	CFC taxation	343
8.3.2.	Taxation of permanent establishments' profits by
	the Member State of residence	344
8.3.3.	Deduction of foreign losses incurred by foreign subsidiaries and permanent establishments subject to the exemption method	345
8.3.4.	Taxation of foreign business income attributable to a permanent establishment by the Member State of	5 15
	establishment	348

8.4. 8.5.	Suggestions on possible future research about the conflict between the objective of achievement of the internal market and Member States' taxation of companies' foreign business income General conclusion	349 350
References		355
Other Titles in the IBFD Doctoral Series		395